Mayor Bill's Message

On January 5, 2016 I presented to the City Council a "State of the City" report that included information comparing the cost of government with neighboring cities. This report can be seen online at RivertonCity.Com. This month, and in the next few months, I will share some highlights from that report.

In comparing full time equivalent (FTE) and salary cost per resident between Riverton and the four contiguous cities of Bluffdale, Draper, Herriman, and South Jordan, the number of city employees and the cost of employees was lower in Riverton City. I believe the reason we have the lowest FTE and salary cost in the comparison is because of the principles we use in providing City services, and hiring employees.

Riverton City's principles for providing City services:

- Provide the best City services for the most reasonable cost
- Decide if a City service is best provided by...
 - A City employee
 - Contracting with another government entity
 - Contracting with a private company

Riverton City's principles for hiring a City employee:

- Hire the best employee we can and pay competitive salaries to attract and keep top talent.

Hiring top-tier key employees can save the City money. Two examples of the many highly effective employees we have now include our Administrative Services Director and Public Works Director. Our Administrative Services Director serves as our Finance Director and Human Resources Director. Previously there were two employees providing these functions. Our Public Works Director also functions as the City Engineer. Previously these positions were filled by two employees. The Public Works Director has also brought Design Services, Project Management, and Property Acquisition in-house. These functions had been previously performed by consulting engineers. This has increased performance and responsiveness and more importantly saved a significant amount of money over the past eight years. Our Public Works Director also has the skillset to apply for and receive federal, state and county grants to build our City roads. We have received millions of dollars in grants that the City had never received before.

Since Riverton hired its first employee, the City has improved the quality of services with great employees. When I moved here in 1975 the City had an employee named Peggy Green. Peggy helped me in many ways to set up my City services as a new resident, and schedule inspections on my home. She helped to make my move to Riverton easier on me and my family. Today we have great employees, too. I am very proud of the help Riverton City employees provide to our residents. As the City continues to grow, so will our level of service and commitment to making Riverton a great community in which to live.

Sincerely,

Mayor Bill
